THE TIMEX MULTISPORT TEAM

Over ten years ago, Timex made a bold move in this historically-individual sport by creating a triathlon team. Today, the team continues to support professional and amateur athletes financially, physically and socially, so that they can focus on training and racing, representing Timex across the world.

A diverse group of male and female athletes from 18 to 57 years old, hailing from nine countries, the Timex Multisport Team wins championships, breaks records, innovates training techniques and helps grow the triathlon community through clinics and presentations.

The team also works closely with Timex engineers to develop and refine new technologies for endurance sports. Insights from the Timex team can be seen in the 50-Lap All Day and Run Trainer™ GPS watch.

Follow the team's accomplishments, view photos and videos, and even browse their latest tweets at the Team Timex tab on Facebook.com/TimexSports.

Note: To maintain water resistance, do not press any buttons or pull out the crown under water unless your watch is indicated as 200 meter water resistant. The watch is water resistant only as long as crystal/lens, crown/push buttons and case remain intact. Even though the watch may be water resistant to a significant depth (100 or 200 meters), it is not a diver watch and should not be used for diving. Timex recommends rinsing your watch with fresh water after exposure to salt water.

WARNING: TO MAINTAIN WATER RESISTANCE, DO NOT PRESS ANY BUTTONS UNDER WATER UNLESS YOUR WATCH IS INDICATED AS 200 METER WATER-RESISTANT. NEVER PULL OUT THE CROWN WHILE UNDER WATER.

1. Watch is water resistant only as long as crystal, crown and case remain intact.
2. Watch is not a diver watch and should not be used for diving.
3. Rinse watch with fresh water after exposure to salt water.
4. Shock-resistance will be indicated on the watch face or caseback. Watches are designed to pass ISO test for shock-resistance. However, care should be taken to avoid damaging the crystal.
